PREFACE.

I must kindly ask you not to judge of this little work, should you be in a critical mood. I do not lay the smallest claim to its being a scientific production. It is merely the result of many happy hours spent during the last few years.

I myself on arriving in DELI, badly felt the want of a book from which I could pick up Malay — that is the Malay that is really spoken, in other words, every-day Malay. Should I now to a certain extent have succeeded in providing for the want in question, the trouble I have taken will be amply repaid.

I have added Keh of the Chinese language as in my opinion it is by far the prettiest of the various dialects and with a little application the easiest learnt.

I give my book over to your lenient judgment.

G. FRASER MELBOURN.

DELI-SUMATRA,
July 1894.
